GREEKS, I.S.U. SPLIT STUDENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES

"Learning is the only means we have for pushing civilization forward, building and occasionally rebuilding that movement may be," honor students at Southern were told Thursday by Prof. E. G. Lentz, principal speaker for the traditional Honors Day special assembly.

Prof. Lentz, curator of the Clint Clay Tilton Library, professor of history, and former dean of men, termed Honors Day "the most important day in the University calendar," since it pays tribute not only to students who have distinguished themselves academically but also to scholarship itself, which is the primary function of higher education.

Awards announced at the assembly included:

American Association of Teachers of Spanish award—presented by Dr. J. Cary Davis to Emma Welch of Carbondale, a senior.

Independent Student Union Scholarship plaque—presented by Gerald Webb of Harrisburg, Pa., to Edith Hall, accepted by Peggy Boscher of Murphysboro.

Delta Sigma Epsilon Betty Rhodes scholarship—presented by Miss Edith Stein to Margaret Pavloff of Zeigler, a sophomore non-sorority girl.

Sigma Sigma Sigma James Meekers memorial scholarship—presented by Edith Hall to Edith Hall of Carbondale, a freshman non-sorority girl.

Phi Beta Kappa prize for highest scholastic average—presented by Dean T. W. Abbott to Delbert Ray Fulkerson of Carbondale.

President Chester F. Lay announced other awards which will be presented during the year, notably the $200 PTA scholarship to Ruth Sprankel of Waterloo and the American Association of University Professors Charles Neely scholarship to John Fulkerson of Carbondale, and called attention to the honor roll students listed in the Honors Day program.

ProceSSIONAL music was played by the March band, a piano solo was rendered by Florence Grim of Carbondale and a vocal solo by Ivan Swan of Marion. A reception was held after the assembly in honor of parents of the honor students.

Chauteauqua Vets Must Conform with Housing Regulations

In a bulletin issued this week by the housing committee, the project administration, veterans living at the project were requested to conform with regulations governing such items as fire protection, garbage disposal, utilities and other factors contributing to greater operating efficiency.

Purpose of the bulletin, according to V. A. Buboltz, chairman of the housing committee, was to establish a hard discipline, but to lay the groundwork for a set of customs which will be followed voluntarily.

According to the bulletin, the management hopes soon to provide an office at the project where matters relative to the project's administration will be carried on. Until such time, the office will be in room 807, Main building.

New Sociology Head, Ten Other Teachers Added To Faculty

Dr. Joseph K. Johnson, Lt. Col., U. S. Army, now on terminal leave, will become head of Southern's sociology department at the beginning of the summer term, June 16. The appointment of Dr. Johnson as well as the appointment of 10 other faculty members for the summer term has been announced this week by the president's office.

Dr. Johnson, a veteran of both world wars, comes to Southern from Biarritz, France, where he served as instructor of sociology in the American University.

Prior to Dr. Johnson's entry in the armed forces for the second time he had been instructor of Sociology at Washington State College, the University of Texas, and had been Prof. of Sociology at East Texas State Teacher's College. He was also associate editor of "The American Sociologist."

Due to the fact that the appointment has followed the publication of the Summer Bulletin, no announcement has been made as to what subjects Dr. Johnson will teach. However, it is probable that he will supplement the courses offered during the first summer session.

Dr. Joseph K. Johnson holds the A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of Texas and received his Ph.D. from Washington University of St. Louis. Summer Appointments

RARE POETRY BOOK AUTOGRAPHED BY AUSTIN DOBSON

Whenever a book is very old it is usually "out of print" and to obtain a copy the library has to order it from a second-hand dealer. Last December Miss Winifred Burns turned in an order for a copy of Thomas Chatterton's poems she had found listed in the catalog of the Grammar Book Shop, a second-hand book store in New York, for $10.00. But when it was received, it was found that inside the front cover there is a bookplate: "Austin Dobson, his book," with a picture of a scholar in a long satin coat and stock sitting in a high-backed chair at an old-fashioned table reading a book. The book plate inside the cover indicates that the book was once the property of the English poet, Austin Dobson, who lived from 1840 to 1913, and of course this fact makes the book far more valuable and interesting.

Even Smells Old

The book has the following title page: "Poems composed and written by Austin Dobson, by Thomas Rowley and others, in the fifteenth century. Cambridge, printed by B. Flower, 1794." Thomas Chatterton was a young poet who lived from 1732 to 1770, and who fabricated poems purporting to be the work of an imaginary fifteenth century Bristol poet, Thomas Rowley. This is why the name "Rowley" appears on the title page as author rather than that of the real author, Thomas Chatterton. The fraud was exposed, but the poems are none the less the work of a poetical genius. Later Chatterton, rejected and despair because of poverty, poisoned himself with arsenic at the age of seventeen.

This copy of Chatterton's poems is, to quote Emily Dickinson, "wears the dress of the century," a sordid dark brown leather binding with stencilled gold borders, and end papers of mottled green, red, yellow, and blue.

There is even an eighteenth century smell about it, as the member of Dr. Schneider's English 411 class who are studying among other 1890 authors, the poetry of Austin Dobson can testify.

Arrangements Made For Special Trains To Chicago-St. Louis

Arrangements have been worked out with the Illinois Central Railroad to run special trains to St. Louis and Chicago for Southern students and faculty when needed. University President Chester F. Lay has announced.

Wayne A. Johnston of Chicago, president of the railway; John D. Cameron, assistant traffic manager, St. Louis, and J. F. Sharkey, superintendent, Carbondale, called on President Lay this week to work out details of the plan.

By means of this special service,

University students and faculty may make trips to St. Louis or Chicago to attend meetings, visit business or industrial plants, attend plays or concerts or operas, at much more convenient hours than are afforded by the railroad's regular schedule. The special trains will be provided only when a sufficiently large number of students or faculty are making the trip to justify the extra service.

Who's Who About Campus

By Bill Price

Introducing... Julius A. "Dude" Swayne of Du Quoin... president of the Independent Student Union Club, 1946-47, member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1947, very active politically, and a graduating senior (with two degrees by the way—Bachelor of Science in June, and Bachelor of Education in August).

JULIUS SWAYNE

Julius entered Southern in the fall of 1940, left for the Marine Corps in 1943, and returned to the campus in 1946. His sojourn in the Marine Corps, though, he says, has not been a political interest, as can be shown by his record at Southern prior to, and after, the war.

Vitality interested in student activities, even though he is graduating (after all, he'll be back for all the BIG events, and he hopes there will be lots of them). "Dude" offers these suggestions to future politicians on campus:

"Aspirants for office should realize the responsibility attached to the office sought, and voters should wholeheartedly support the most capable man for the job."

"More participation of all students in extra-curricular activities. If you don't have talent, at least support some one that does."

Julius has also been a lab instructor in sociology, has been in charge of the biological section of the school's museum, and was military editor of the Obelisk in 1943.

Interesting jobs during his tenure of these positions: "Miking" nutcrackers (removing poison from the poison sacks); working with the school's new wolf and wolfs; getting information regarding men in the military service to put in the 1943 Obelisk; and throughout, "playing" politics.

For relaxation, Julius enjoys nature. Namely, hunting and fishing.

Three new members were initiated:

Perry Eisenhower, Marceline Williams, and Dr. Ellen Barry. In a fitting ceremony, Miss Barry was also installed as the new sponsor of the organization.

Mrs. Dorothy Logan Cripps, president of the chapter, gave an account of her trip to the national convention held at Bowling Green, Ohio, on May 16 and 17. Mrs. Cripps was elected national alumni secretary at the convention.

The officers for the coming year are:

Marceline Williams, president and Perry Eisenhower, secretary-treasurer.

It Happens to the Best of People

By Paul Williams

Final exams are on the way and traveling fast. Some are predicting little hope for themselves, but others still see a spark of light in the distance. The sororities and fraternities are busy digging up old files of examination papers. The teachers are running around junking everyone that you-can-too-funk-every-look.

Some of our beloved sophisticated, graduating seniors are leaving us for good. They are going out into the world to face high living costs, low wages, high income tax, low wages, high times, and low prices. Just remember seniors, if the elevator to success is broken, use the stairs, but be sure and try the elevator first.

Twelve weeks ago this column was born. Many say it was born dead. Now it is passing on to take its place among the other works of art. It will never appear again for the writer cannot afford to pay Dodd and Senters any more money to print it. Yet the writer feels deep sorrow when he thinks of the many people who will be deprived of this highly journalistic column. It was the writers solemn hope that thousands of collectors of journalistic material would ask for his wisdom to add to their own. As up to date all he has had is several requests for autographs from small boys, who wanted to be sure that he could write his name by hand. To Kraatz he leaves his humorous talents, he needs them, and hereafter the writer, like Shakespeare, is going to spend the rest of the time writing plays.

Music Department In Active Growth During Year

A CAPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir has made approximately twenty-five appearances this school year, including: County Teachers Meeting, Murphyboro; P.T.A. meeting, Brush School; Carbondale; Horticultural Society; Fruit Growers Association; Youth For Christ Service, at the Walnut Street Baptist Church; A Christmas Concert in Carterville and on the campus; and three campus broadcasts.

The choir assisted in the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" under the direction of Dr. Maurits Kessar. In February, with Orl Christianen as guest director, the choir sponsored a Choral Clinic, with a massed chorus of 650 voices.

During the spring term, the choir presented its annual Spring Concert in the Little Theatre, immediately followed by a concert, at the Methodist Church.

Recently the choir completed a tour of Southern Illinois cities, which included the St. Cecilia Mass giving eight concerts in two days. Cities visited were: Christopher, Benton, Mt. Vernon, Fairfield, Eldorado, Harrisburg, Carbondale, and Herrin.

The choir will conclude its year's work by singing for the dedication of the Baptist Student Foundation Chapel, and the University basillabrate service.

The University A Cappella choir will continue to function during the summer term, according to F. V. Wakeland, director of the group. The organization will meet at 7:00, and rehearsals will last on Tuesday and Thursday nights about an hour and a half. Both students and townspeople are invited to participate.

The numbers to be sung, Mr. Wakeland said, will be lighter than those the choir did during the regular school year, and several student conductors will be given a chance to direct. A concert will be given in the latter part of July.

MADRIGAL GROUP APPEARS OFTEN DURING 1946-47

The Madrigal group, under the direction of Prof. F. V. Wakeland, is one of Southern's most active music organizations, being composed of twelve students who are mostly music majors or minors. The Madrigal Singers perform a capella, singing the old Madrigal type of music from which they get their name. The old English custom of singing around the table after a meal inspired musicians to distinguish this certain style of music which is called polyphonic, meaning many melodies are being introduced first by one part and then another. Since the Madrigals were started about the Elizabethan era, this mode of dress forms the costumes worn by the group.

The Madrigal singers have given numerous performances during this school year. They gave a concert at the Family Night Banquet, for the Carbondale Parent Teachers Association, on one of the Music Department's Student Recitals, and for the high school seniors on Hospitality weekend.

Representing Southern on WCIL, singing for the Carbondale Women's Club, at the Roberts Hotel, and participation in the Southern choir tour have been further activities of the group. During the tour, which covered Christopher, Benton, Du Quoin, Fairfield, Eldorado, Harrisburg, Carbondale, and Herrin, the Madrigals presented a group of selections on each program and completely won their audiences.

The students composing this group are: first soprano, Patricia Fields, who is a music major from West Frankfort, and Lorraine Carington, an art major and music minor from Carbondale; second soprano, Bobbie Ingram, a music major from Carbondale; and Roberta Wheeler, music and physical education major from Carterville; first alto, Martha Spear, a physical education major from Carbondale; second alto, Carol Werner, a music major from Belleville, and Charlotte Rauback, an art major from West Frankfort; baritone, David McIntosh, a music major from Carbondale; bass, Gene Hovey, a music major from Fairfield, and Bill Morris, a music major from Morris.

These people sing because they like to sing, and they enjoy themselves thoroughly when they perform, especially when singing the type such as the one Dave pulled at Herrin came out. In introducing the group, Dave very seriously told the audiences that Madrigals came from the old custom of sitting around the table and eating music.

MEN'S QUARTET

The Men's Quartet is the first permanent ensemble to be formed from the membership of the Southern Men's Music Club. This organization, formed for entertainment purposes only, has been in great demand since its formation in mid-winter term. The Quartet has sung for the Carbondale Business Men's meeting, District Lions Club meeting, for High School Seniors during "Hospitality Weekend," Carbondale Rotarians, Carbondale Women's Club, and the eight concerts of the A Cappella Choir tour. Many requests were turned down because of conflicts in classes and other school work.

Paul L. Margelli, first tenor, is a sophomore from West Frankfort. He is a Music Education major, president of the Southern Men's Music Club, and a member of the University Choir.

Norman Rodenberg, second tenor, is a freshman from Waterloo. He is a Music Education major, chairman of the program committee.

8-YEAR OLD PIANIST TO APPEAR IN RECITAL

A recital by a nine-year-old Carbondale girl, Barbara Jane English, will be presented in the Little Theatre at Southern Illinois Normal University Friday evening, June 6, at 8 p. m.

Barbara Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert English, has studied under her mother, and has already presented several recitals over St. Louis radio stations. She will be assisted by Barbara Swartz, flutist, who is a pupil of Dr. Maurits Kessar, professor and chairman of the music department at the University.

The recital will be open to the public. Selections to be performed by the youthful pianist include two major numbers by Haydn, a group from a Claude Fauriel album, Mozart, and several lighter pieces.

Band Is Successful Under Hines' Direction

With the school year drawing to a close, we can look at the progress of Southern's band during the past year and realize a good deal has been accomplished, in spite of the many handicaps. More important, more, we can look forward to a very active and good band program for next year—at which time the "unseen" efforts of this year will become visible. All indications are that we will have a band which will be a source of pride to all the students and alumni of Southern.

When Mr. Hines Arrives on Campus

When Mr. Hines arrived on campus last fall he found only a handful of musicians planning to come out for band; very few school-owned instruments—and all of them in need of repair; no credit offered for band; no rehearsal schedule (Monday 8 a. m., Tuesday 7 p. m., and Wednesday 8 a. m.—which conflicted with commuters and which left a gap of five days with no rehearsal); incomplete instrumentation of many numbers in the band library; lack of appropriate music for specific occasions; and football season only two weeks away.

The problem of personnel was solved by having the band appear before the student body each Thursday morning as part of the assembly program. As students saw the progress of the band, they got the urge to participate, and before the end of the first term we had one Tuesday night rehearsal with eighty in attendance. This large attendance, however, did not carry over to the football band, since many of the G. I. students were already fed up with marching. Therefore, our football band was too small to put on much of a show, although, by the end of the football season we were up to sixty. Due to these various handicaps, we had to resort to tricks to fool the audience, namely, to spread out the band to make it look bigger than it actually was, and to put all cornet, clarinet and trombone players on "solo" parts to make the music sound bigger. There wasn't enough rehearsal time to develop any marching or good playing, so we concentrated on fine formations to keep the audiences' attention.

Plan Concert Season

As mentioned earlier in this article, a pep band will be active at the basketball games—and we hope a trip or two is in store for that group.

The concert season will be active, too; a Christmas concert, Spring concert, three or four twilight outdoor concerts next spring, some out-of-town programs, and a high school band clinic, also being planned.

Those students who wish to be in the football band must sign-up at the very first of the Fall Term, because once the personnel is "set" it will not be altered for the remainder of the football season. Also, next year no one will be permitted in the band unless he or she can and will attend every rehearsal.

Next year there will be more than enough good musicians in school, to comprise the finest band in Southern's history. By participating in the band they would not only gain a world of musical experience and satisfaction, but they would also be taking an active part in restoring some much-needed school spirit!

THREE FACULTY MEMBERS APPOINTED TO ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR NEXT YEAR

Three new faculty representatives were elected to the President's advisory council at Southern at a recent faculty meeting.

Dr. Dorothy Davies, professor of physical education for women was elected member-at-large for a three year term, replacing Dr. John Mayor, professor of mathematics.

Dr. William B. Schneider, professor of English, was elected for a three year term from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, replacing Dr. Willis G. Swartz, professor of government.

Reflect and Meditate By the Lovely Shores of Romantic Ridgeway

For several years now we have been wandering around with the idea that Lake Ridgeway was just a little body of water surrounded rather effectively by a parking lot, Anthony Hall, and the local gym. It took a 1932 copy of the Essexian and a anonymous writer to show us how stupid we were and to make us wonder how we ever got out of high school and off probation.

Under the simple heading, Lake Ridgeway, this guy who undoubtedly had a double major in English, says, "A few nights ago I was languidly strolling over the campus. The warm south breeze bore a promise of Spring, and the gibbons moon bathed the buildings and landscape with almost daylight brilliance. The night was such a one as to eradicate from the night all onerous care." We paused here and tried to imagine how one went about "strolling languidly," and what a gibbon moon looked like, and if we had been running around with onerous care on our mind without even knowing it. Ridgeway Magnetized.

We inhaled slowly and eagerly rushed into paragraph two which says in no uncertain terms, providing you like Milton, "As I smilely roamed, some magnetic something seemed to be imperfect.

"The tiny body of water has heard the whisperings of lovers. Courtships have been started and culminated upon its gently sloping banks." (We dashed out to warn Mr. Cochran, reading as we ran.) "The romantic reflection of star and moonlight upon the lake's glassy surface has inspired proposals, and those same reflections have likewise inspired acceptances. Still," (It gets and here), "hasn't been as serene as that. Lovers have quarrelled upon its banks, hearts broken, as well as gladdened."

The writer ended with this meditation. "Thus I meditated as I sat sublimely upon the bank. And yet, sublimely I, the little lake, in spite of all it has witnessed, must, like Pike's Peak, be doomed to never know the feel of a submarine, or hear the roar of a sea-plane."

We agree with him, this is undoubtedly the place to stop. After a thought like that, who could possibly carry the thing any further.

W.A.A.

The annual W.A.A. Spring Banquet was held Wednesday evening, May 28, at the school cafeteria. After dinner, the program "emceed" by Evelyn Parker, re-trying president, got under way. A reading was given by Evelyn Parker, and then Barbara Melvin played a few numbers on the piano. Following this was the installation of new officers by Evelyn Parker, and a review of the sports days by Barbara Melvin. The group was then favored with two numbers by Carolyn Reinhold on the violin with Naomi Kuchner at the piano.

A review of all the sports activities was then given by Miss Jean Stehr and Mrs. Dorothy Murrell. As told in the reports, modern dance is now a year-round club. This year, twelve members received 100 W.A.A. points. Also this year, for the first time, the group gave two public performances. Honorable mention was given to Nell Bradley, Opal Ruff, and Vera Turner for their work in this activity.

Of the 54 girls who came out for field hockey last fall, 46 received 100 W.A.A. points. The intramural tournament was won by the Southern Flyers.

Basketball Most Popular
There were 36 girls to receive points for admittance. The beginning tournament was won by Helen Greham and Jean Young and the advanced tournament was won by Evelyn Parker and Marie Kern.

For the most popular sport, basketball, 100 girls answered the roll call. Of these girls, 65 received W.A.A. points. The girls who came out for softball numbered 50 and the tournament was won by the "Sun-Drops," who won three straight games. After the intramural tournament, two all-star teams were chosen. The members of the teams were announced at the banquet and the game was played Wednesday afternoon.

As a climax of the evening, Dr. Harold Davis made the presentations of the awards. Dr. Davis announced the honorary hockey team as was chosen at the end of the hockey season. PRACTICE HOUSE OPEN TO NON-HOME EC. MAJORS DURING SUMMER TERM

You don't have to major in home economics at Southern to get the experience of living for the summer in the "practice house."

The home management house, a laboratory for students majoring in home management, affords these students the opportunity to plan meals, buy food, cook, wash, household linen, clean house, wash and starch curtains, use the various modern electrical appliances, and keep household accounts.

In order to give non-home economics majors an opportunity to live in the house, it will be kept open during the summer. Miss Gladys Babcock, supervisor, has announced.

Any girl of junior or senior standing is eligible to take the home management laboratory course, said Sophomores may enroll only with permission of the dean of their college.

Application should be made to Miss Babcock or to Miss Lucy K. Woody, chairman of the home economics department before registration day, June 16.

The course carries four quarter hours credit.

"Since many girls do not have time to do much work in home economics before they graduate or marry," Miss Babcock said, "this is an excellent opportunity to gain some valuable experience in all phases of homemaking."

EXHIBIT LA PLANTE PAINTING AT U. OF I.

Miss Modesta LaPlante, former student of S.I.N.U., will have a painting on exhibition in the U. of I. art gallery during the summer months. The picture "Yellow Cab" done in water colors and in abstract form was selected by her art teacher from several paintings submitted by Art 1-1 class. Miss LaPlante is a student in the home economics department of the college of Agriculture where she is majoring in child guidance and child development.

Stinson Picked As Most Valuable

Quentin Stinson, a junior from Eldorado was presented the Henry Hinkley Dempsey Adams Hat Welfare Award and the Hinkley Memorial Award last night at the annual athletic banquet held in the university cafeteria. These awards designate stinson as Southern's most valuable athlete for the school year of 1946-47.

This is the first time in the history of Southern that the Hinkley-Dempsey award has been given and the selection of the winner made by an athletic committee composed of faculty members. Dr. Neal Phelps of the physical department was named the committee and made the presentation to Stinson.

The Henry Hinkley award is given by Nu Epsilon Alpha.

pha fraternity in honor of a former fraternity member, Henry Hinkley, who was killed in the invasion of Biak Island during the last war. Hinkley was a Southern athlete who lettered in basketball and football in 1941-42 and 1942-48.

The winner of this award was chosen by the lettermen of Southern and the presentation was made by Fenton Harris, a Nu Epsilon Alpha fraternity member, and Sports editor of the Egyptian.

Another highlight of the banquet was the talk given by John P. ball.

After graduating from high school he enlisted as an aviation cadet in the army and later graduated as a second lieutenant at Hondo army base, Hondo, Texas.

While in the army, Quentin played on the Harlingen army air

Carmichael told stories of his travels with the various baseball teams. He said the most interesting thing to him in sports was the laughs he gets from the legendary participants. He also added "that at this time we need something uplifting that will relieve our minds and that sports are furnishing this necessary morale booster."

The Athletic banquet is given each year by the Carbondale Business Men's Association. Phil Wimmels, president of the association, presided during the meeting last night.

Athletic director Glenn "Abe" Martin introduced basketball coach Lynn Holder, tennis coach Bill Freiburg, and tennis coach Leland

In December 1945 Quentin was discharged from the army and the following month he enrolled at Southern Illinois to become a star football player. He was also a brilliant performer of the track and field team. GOLFERS STRONG IN FIRST YEAR OF COMPETITION

After setting two new school records and winning four out of five meets, Southern's track and field team, headed by Coach Leland P. "Doc" Lingle, has put away its togs for the season. The Maroons ended their season with the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference meet at DeKalb May 17, in which they took second.

The first Southern record cracked this season was by George Beltz of Marion as he clipped off the half-mile run in 2:02.7 in the first meet of the year with Evansville College, surpassing the 2:03.1 record, set by Allar Sutton of Hurst Bush in 1937. However, this was not fast enough for his running mate from Du Quoin, John

Brake, for he set a new record of 2:01.8 in the same event two weeks later against Eastern Illinois State Teachers College. Not to be out-done, Beltz showed the local fans during the Shurtleff College meet May 10 he also could run a 2:01.8 half

mile. So, the record now rests in the possession of both Belts and Brake, and certainly each will be out to better his own work, come next spring. Quentin Stinson of Eldorado, spark-plug of Southern's powerful discus trio, also set a new record this season with 166 1/2 feet.	Charles Mathieu Harry Young Ray Hanks Bill Hayse Robert Leutzow Bob Neighbors Norris Garner Adrian Stonecipher
